The Circulation of The Bulletin.

The Bulletin has the largest circulation of any paper in Eastern Connecticut, and from three to four times larger than that of any ir Norwich. It is delivered to over 3,000 of the 4,053 houses in Norwich, and read by ninety-three per cent of the people. In Windham it is delivered to over 900 houses. in Putnam and Danielson to over 1,100, and in all of these places it is considered the local daily.

Eastern Connecticut has fortynine towns, one hundred and sixtyfive post office districts and fortyone rural free delivery routes.

The Bulletin is sold in every town and on all of the R. F. D. routes in Eastern Connecticut.

MACDONALD'S WAY.

Ansonia's plea for macadam on North Main street was listened to by Highway Commissioner Macdonald and given a prompt answer. He agrees to begin work within forty-eight hours after the city places with him a chart of a properly laid out street, with lines defined and boundaries fixed. This puts the matter up to the city, which, ecording to action taken last evening seems inclined to lose no time or its part in giving hearings and getting to work. There seems to be no longer any question but North Main street will be macadamized this summer, thus doing away with one more had road. The commissioner's prompt response in the matter is appreciated. much account as the sun that shines,

There is nothing slow about James H. Macdonald. The only trouble with him is that he proposes to live by the letter and spirit of the law and to require everyone else to. This is not always politic, but it is always manly and safe. He has put the whole matter up to the authorities of Ansonia, and if things do not move promptly there it will be because the conditions are not what are required. Ansonia is not the first city to have this thing cone, The state highway commissioner is doing it all the time and if those who oppose him so bitterly had the work to do it would be done in a less business-like way.

CRIMINAL PRICE RAISING.

The commercialism which would destroy valuable produce or goods to create a scarcity for the purpose of bringing prices up is contrary to every code of honor and every principle of Brazil is about to burn thousands of bags of coffee in order to maintain the maximum price.

The Toledo Blade says that "an experiment of the sort was made once by cortain commission merchants of Chicago, who bought up fruit in Wisconsin in a year of heavy yield and dumped carloads of it into Lake Michigan. The policy, if generally adopted, might suggest to the farmers that fire would save wheat from ever getting below a dollar a bushel. Our lake carriers, to make business, might jet . tison cargoes of iron ore, preventing its storage, and making sure that the boats are kept busy."

And observing the brutality and meanness of the practice the consumers might organize and take the goods from these men by force. This is a herrible suggestion, but sowing the seed of dishenor is the way to reap something of a criminal nature. To make produce or goods dear by selfish destruction is wicked, and in effeet a robbery of the people; and such evil methods are likely to produce something worse in retallation.

He will smile and nod his head and apparently agree with you that your man is just the fellow for the job. Just as you think it is all fixed up he will suggest a man you didn't think he had ever heard about. He generally makes up his mind about the type of man he wants to fill a certain office and will keep hunting until he finds the fellow he is after. In spite of his calm, judicial temperament, he sticks to his own ideas with almost as much pertinacity as did his strenuous prodecessor."—Washington letter in Brooklyn Eagle.

North's Successor. Rarely in the history of the census office has a better appointment been made than that of Dr. Durand so far as technical qualifications go. Michigan born, a graduate of Oberlin, Mr. Durand received his doctor's degree at Cornell: he then became in turn the legislative librarian of the New York state library, assistant professor of administration and finance at Stanford university, secretary of the Unitford university, secretary of the Unit-ed States industrial commission, an in-structor of economics at Harvard, a special expert agent of the census ofof a $75,000,000 estate. Great Britain gets ten millions as its portion. That is getting revenue from a reliable source.

Special expert agent of the cleans in 1907 the deputy commissloner of that office. The Food Problem.

The food problem has existed ever ince the world began. But to the ver-present question of ho wone is to the busiest in this direction at pres-cnt, and all sorts of extraordinary discoveries are set forth. One of them is porsuaded that our only chance of living is to give up all other kinds of feod and subsist entirely on Gruyers cheese; this, he says, contains all the cheese; this, he says, contains all the nutriment that is required by man; this theory has its advantage—think how it would simplify our housekeeping. The restaurant keepers would not welcome the general adoption of this diet, to be sure, and it might prove a little monotoneurs is timed. Ridgefield.—Minott A. Osborn, son of Colonel and Mrs. N. G. Osborn, son of Colonel and Mrs. N. G. Osborn of New Haven, who has been for two years under the general adoption of this school, has been appointed teacher at the Baltimore Country school.

The umpire's decisions do not cut any ice so long as the baseball team seeps looking good enough in the reports to have its picture taken.

The man in Missouri who preferred a drink of carbolic acts and seeds are seen, and it might prove a little monotonous in time.

A much more interestin genery than either of these is put forth by another professor. He says that our actions can be controlled by the food we eat; certain salads will produce certain mental conditions of the mind. Unfortunately, he does not give to the world these invaluable rules. If we only knew, how beautiful we might make this world! Criminal courts might almost be dispensed with, and e severest sentence a judge would apose would be to put an offender con a diet of strawberries and cream, for instance. However, knowing that we can eventually reach such a state, there is opportunity for interesting ex-periments.—Boston Globe.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional freatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and nucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease and giving the patient afrength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
